

THE BEST ATLANTA RESTAURANTS FOR BIG GROUPS, SORTED BY 'HOOD

Morningside

Cape Dutch

You and your friends may not have the money to go on a group trip to South Africa for steak and shrimp, but you can get as close as Atlanta will allow at Cape Dutch. The location of the 10-seat private dining rooms turns down the exclusivity, since they're set to the side of the dining room, keeping your party from feeling left out of the bigger party. It specializes in braai (basically South African barbecue with piri piri and other sauces), but also has elk chops if you're game, as well as shareable items like the 30oz porterhouse for two.
